Basic training covers sit, down, stay, heel, come, climb, and crate. Each program ends with a hand-off session where we teach the owner to handle the dog.

3. Health and behavior disclosure

The dog must arrive healthy and match what the owner states below. We may refuse or send home any dog that does not match those statements, and the fee stays due.

The owner states that all of the following are true, and will tell us right away if anything changes:

- The dog has no known contagious illness and no health condition other than those listed in section 1.
- The dog has never bitten or injured a person or another animal, except as written here: _____
- Any history of aggression, fear, resource guarding, escaping, or separation anxiety is written here: _____
- The owner has told us everything we need to handle the dog safely.

4. Care, training, and pick-up

We will feed, house, exercise, and train the dog for the length of the selected program, following the feeding and medication notes in section 1.

- Methods. We choose the training methods, tools, and schedule. We may change them to suit the dog.
- Housing. The dog stays on our property under our supervision. Dogs with behavior issues may be kept apart from other dogs.
- Updates. We will give the owner progress updates during the program. Visits and calls are by appointment so training is not interrupted.
- Owner's items. The owner brings enough of the dog's regular food and any medication. We are not responsible for collars, leashes, toys, or beds left with the dog.
- Hand-off session. The owner must attend the hand-off session before we release the dog, so the training carries over at home.
- Pick-up. The owner picks the dog up on the planned pick-up date, or within 2 days of our notice that the program is done.
- Not included. Protection work, extra weeks, and any program other than the one selected in section 2 are not included unless we agree in writing.

5. Risk, release, and veterinary care

Training and boarding dogs carries real risk, including injury, illness, escape, and death, even with careful handling. We take reasonable care, but we cannot remove that risk.

- Assumption of risk. The owner understands these risks and accepts them.
- Release. To the fullest extent Arkansas law allows, the owner releases My K9 Guardian and its owners and staff from claims for injury, illness, or loss of the dog, except where caused by our gross negligence or willful misconduct.
- Owner is responsible for the dog. The owner is responsible for any injury or damage the dog causes to people, other dogs, or property while in our care, and will repay us for resulting costs, to the extent the law allows.
- Veterinary care. If the dog needs medical care, we will try to reach the owner first. If we cannot, the owner authorizes us to take the dog to the nearest veterinarian, or to the owner's veterinarian from section 1, and to approve care up to $_____. The owner pays all veterinary costs.
- Safety. We may muzzle, separate, or end the program for any dog we believe is a danger to people or other animals.

6. Payment, cancellation, and unclaimed dogs

- Payment. The deposit in section 2 is due at signing and holds the dog's spot. The balance is due on or before the balance date in section 2. We do not release the dog until the fee is paid in full.
- Owner cancels before drop-off. The deposit is not refunded.
- Owner ends the program early. No refund for weeks not used.

- We end the program. If we end it for safety, health, or because the owner left out important facts in section 3, we refund the fee for full weeks not used, less the deposit.
- Late pick-up. After 2 days past the pick-up date, a boarding fee of $_____ per day applies.
- Unclaimed dog. If the owner does not pick up the dog within _____ days after the pick-up date and our written notice, we may treat the dog as abandoned and place the dog in a new home, as Arkansas law allows. The owner keeps responsibility for all fees owed.
- Returned payments. The owner pays any bank fee for a payment that does not clear.

7. General terms

- No guarantee. Every dog learns at its own pace. We work toward the goals of the program, but we do not guarantee results. Lasting results depend on the owner keeping up the training at home.
- Photos and video. We may photograph and film the dog during training and use the images to promote My K9 Guardian. The owner agrees to this as a condition of the program and cannot opt out.
- Approval. Our training program is open only to approved owners and pets. We may decline or end service where the dog or owner is not a fit.
- Governing law. This agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Arkansas.
- Whole agreement. This is the full agreement. Changes must be in writing and signed by both sides. If one part is found unenforceable, the rest stays in effect.

8. Signatures

By signing, the owner confirms they have read this agreement, including that a dog can lose weight during training, the information in it is true, and they agree to it.

Owner checks each box before signing:

☐ I have read this entire agreement.

☐ I agree to photos and video of my dog during training (section 7).

☐ Everything I wrote about my dog, including any bite or aggression history, is true.
